The Colonel

As we, the class of '74,
pass through the future seasons
we will recall with warmest memories the one to whom we dedicate this book.
As the saying goes, he is truly a 'man for all seasons'; a journalist wizard, a tickler
of the ivories, a white knight of the court, a Shakespeareian scholar.
For his omniscient assistance,
we dedicate Aegis '74 to
Mr. Irwin Kerson.

*Autumn to Winter,
Winter into Spring,
Spring into Summer,
Summer into Fall,
So rolls the changing year,
and so we change;
Motion so swift,
we know not that we move.*

On that cold and clammy fall morning, as the rain poured down from above, we entered our first day of high school. A maze of hallways and stairwells greeted us as we entered the mammoth double doors. Standing to the left was a commanding figure smiling and nodding at various intervals as if elated to see the performance of this new congregation as we were swallowed up in the confusion. A mustached young man stood in the hall directing anxious individuals to their rooms with his left hand and passing out detentions with his right to those creatures who took the wrong turn.

After a mad scramble at two minutes before eight, and a long run to some room on an upstairs wing (an upstairs wing?), we were seated in alphabetic order according to our last name by some kind, befuddled lady. We had found our homerooms!

Before five after eight some man had told us through a box on the wall that X block was moved to this period and the distracted lady had passed out to us some six different cards and sheets to be filled out in triplicate in the next ten minutes. An hour later the box spoke again and told us to procede to our next class at the bell.

Making the mistake of asking an upperclassman where such and such a room was, there was many a time we ended up far from our appointed destination. Finally arriving at a distant room, a long way from where we thought it was, we were jabbed in the stomach with a small slip of paper stating the day and time that we were to report to the cafeteria for detention. With the teacher already wondering about our intelligence, the class began. — Then another, and another, and another — after 330 class minutes, we learned that fascinating fact of rela-ambidexterous croupiers, and made sure to fill you in completely on some college in a remote town in the Black Hills of South Dakota. We were learning? 'Sophomore' doesn't mean 'wise fool' without reason, you know — but eventually we received our promotions to the eleventh grade.

It may seem redundant, but that's the way it was — that smiling man was standing there again. The teachers were the same and there were still forms to fill out, but something about being a junior made it a little better. We got the Wednesday morning lecture on responsibility, and asked each other why they didn't just stick that talking box right up on the roof. There was a certain snobbish air about us as we relized we were now "on the program." It was soon brought to our attention that it was much easier to be "off the program" than on,

The cafeteria studies and the battles for the ping-pong ball became a way of life, as familiar to us as our gym socks in March, but the lunch block auditorium study — that was just too much to cope with. Of the seven hundred and something

It was a bright but windy September morning as we came back for the last time. We were on top now; in command of the school. When we walked in the halls now the underclassmen didn't exactly bow — but they didn't trip us either. We would often be recognized — sometimes then we nodded. The "senior cafeteria became ours. The food was no better, but then neither was the company. Going out to lunch or bringing back grinders became the big decision seniors had to face. Driving the car to school only to find a little OVERPARKED card on our windshields made us think twice about driving our cars to the cute sophomore chick who seemed to appear wherever we were. The year went by with the thirty-one senior skip days (Don't we wish — but those 8:05's on the homeroom teacher's desk aren't exactly comparable to winning the Mass. lottery). We'll take the normal allotment of days actually being sick.

Here we are — classes aren't too formidable and we wouldn't admit it if they were; SAT results are determining the dorm residencies of many of us, someplace jobs are waiting for others. Our harvest will be coming in — and we'll be beginning again, somewhere else. Just for a while, however, we're still on top; but there's more of our season in the sun to come.

Spartans Overwhelm Opponents in 9-0 Season

Spartans Roll

A mighty Spartan squad began their drive to the top with double sessions in late August. The day-to-day drudgery of practice produced a powerful champion.

Decimated by the powerful Spartan machine, the first seven opponents bowed — four by the shutout route. The Spartans met their first real test as they entered the battle of the unbeaten against Minnechaug. Before an enthralled crowd, the Spartan offense burst through the Falcon defense in the first half and took a 27-7 lead. But the momentum shifted in the second half as Minnechaug caught the Spartans off guard and struck with the big play to tighten the score at 27-21. The Spartans held on in the fourth quarter and added more points to complete the scoring at 33-21. In the regular season finale, the Spartans faced a spirited Longmeadow team. The Spartan offense sputtered in the first half and only a strong defensive effort by the Spartans kept the score close at 7-0, Lancers. A rejuvenated Spartan team, lead by Rand Willard and Dave Tranghese, roared out in the second half and wiped out the Lancer upset hopes, 24-7.

Other standouts named to the All-Star team were Mike Daniele, Tim Broderick and Fred Ernsting. Although their title hopes were dim, the Spartans were noted for their hustle and determined play.

Another Great Swim Season! So What's New!

SWIM SEASON

The swim team glided to an undefeated season, destroying most opponents. A strong relay team and a large group of outstanding individuals led the squad to victory. Their biggest test was against Cathedral, an uneven match in which the Panthers found themselves swimming over their heads.

Unbeaten Mermen Swim to Title

unusual draw deprived the Lancers of gaining at least a tie for the division crown.

East Longmeadow, the sole unbeaten team, at 10-0, faces a rematch with second place Cathedral (10-1), and this time the meet will be held at Linkletter Natatorium, also Tuesday.

Spartan coach Dick Bolles

has one division title to his credit in eight years, while the Panthers have emerged from the depths of oblivion the last two years to take Division C and B championships, respectively.

The first meeting went to the Spartans, 46-37, but Cathedral coach Charlie Casserly felt "they swam over their heads" in that one. "We're making our move now," he added.

Bolles would like to win the title, noting "it seems like we're always second."

The teams are fairly equal in firepower but Bolles has been getting great results from two sophomores—Rick Parker and Steve Wiez-bicki—and he's hoping they can pick up vitally needed points.

EL Swimmers Clinch Division Championship

East Longmeadow rules as Western Mass. Division I swim champions after splashing to a thrilling, 89-83 victory over Cathedral before 500 Tuesday at Springfield College's Linkletter Natatorium.

The Spartans, now 13-0 with two dual meets to swim, nailed down the title with five school records two each by freestylers Rand Willard and Rick Parker.

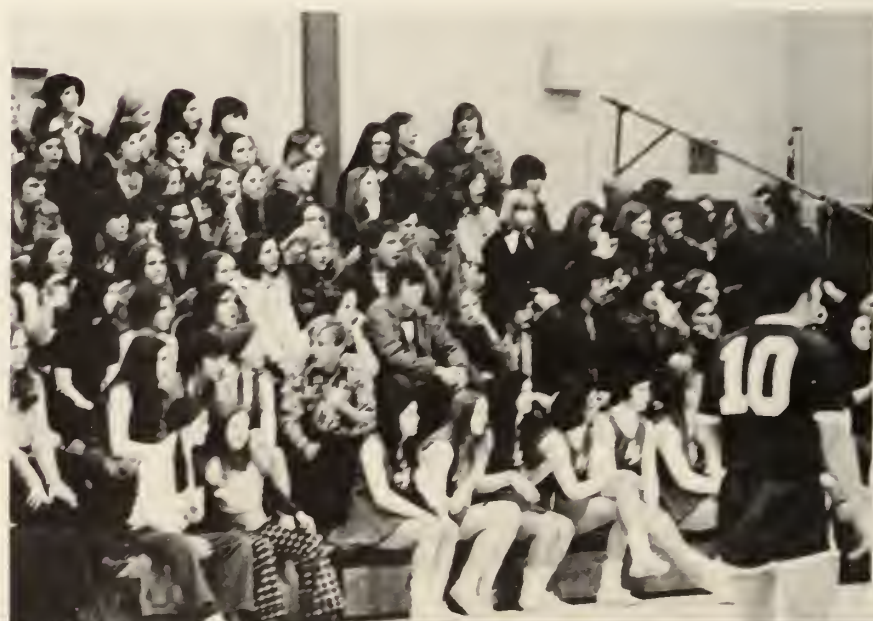

Willard who won the 50 (23.6) and 100 (52.6) also anchored the 400-yard freestyle freelay as the Spartans used a victory in the meet's final event to gain the verdict.

Parker's victories came in the 200 (1:57.7) and the 500 (5:21).

Steve Wiezbicki, Dave Taft and Steve Midwood joined Willard in the clinching relay victory. They were timed in 3:33. This also was a school record.

It was the second league title for coach Dick Bolles' mermen.

A Season of Surprises

Despite the preseason outlook for the defending Valley Wheel Champs, and the lack of scoring punch due to graduation, the Spartans have performed admirably. Coach Modzelewski's boys were not to retain the title, however. Using agility and hustle, the inexperienced Spartans were able to overcome the much larger teams. Some fine shooting by Capt. Tim Broderick, Rob Lieberwith, Jim Dunn, and Paul Pronicki aroused the fans. A tenacious Spartan defense, which consistently held opponents well below their scoring average, proved their key to victory. All in all, the hoop season was a "good effort."

Frosh Shoot Way to Success

The Hockey Season

After a quick start which saw the Spartans defeat their first four opponents with an awesome scoring attack, there could be nothing but optimism for a great Spartan season. Suspensions and injuries resulted in the loss of Mike Daniele, Tony Trase, and Paul Sibley for periods of time. Due to sporadic and sluggish play the Spartans slid into a slump. Senior goalie, Kevin Silk, was often the only force keeping the Spartans in the game. Leading scorers for the Spartans were Chuck Serafin, Paul Serafin, Tony Trase, and Mike Daniele, while Paul Sibley and Joe Grigley lead the core of blue-liners.

Playoffs Bring End to Football Streak

With the complex rating system holding up the decision on the Western Mass. Champ., the powers decided to engage in the battle of the year. E.L. and Pittsfield tangled for the championship berth. The first half found the Spartans in control with a 20-0 lead, but a great fourth quarter rally by Pittsfield ended the struggle in a 20-20 tie.

Back to the rating system: E.L. got the nod. In a superb defensive battle, highlighted by an array of incredible plays, the Algonquin team prevailed, 6-2.

Child Development: Project Nursery School

E.L.H.S. offers a unique course to its upperclassmen and women to prepare them for the establishment of their own homes. Child Development was designed to develop a constructive relationship between parents and children.

The girls involved in the course study child development from the prenatal stage to pre-adolescence.

This year the class, prompted by Miss Chmielewski, eagerly invited some preschool children to their child development class. The girls made toys for the children to play with and some even brought gifts for them as Christmas presents. The girls in the two classes were separated into different groups. Each group had a job to do. There were games to be planned and refreshments to be made.

A free play period was set up so that the children could get used to each other by associating with each other. Then they had group games and singing.

This project worked out very well. Not only for the children, but for the students as well. It gave the girls a chance to observe what they had been studying about children's behavior. It also allowed the girls to show what they had learned in the course.

Student Government

Student Government

The student body is ably represented by the student government. Speaking out for the students is the monumental job of its members. This year a massive candy sale was waged to raise money. Headed by Mr. Sarazin, the student government touches all aspects of student life, providing lunchroom control, aiding projects in financial distress, and co-sponsoring Spartanum.

Honor Society

Those who are elite in the field of knowledge may enter the honor society. This wise group is guided by Mrs. Freed with Kim Wiezbicki as president. Although honor society members have special privileges to reward their superior intellectual performance, they quietly devote hours to tutoring students who are having temporary difficulty. A well-rounded group, honor society co-sponsors Spartanum each year with gusto.

Varsity Club

Varsity Club

For those who have lettered in at least one varsity sport at ELHS, there is the varsity club. President Larry Bean and the members hope to raise money by picking up the fields after the cheering fans leave our sporting events. Lunchroom patrol demonstrates a school spirited service activity of the varsity club.

Debate Club

"Poverty in the United States" is this year's controversial topic from which will stem the rousing arguments of the EL debaters. Under the direction of Mr. McKinney, the varsity debaters, Glenn McRae, John Ferreira, Lisa Basile, and Kathy Eastman, hope to verbally assault and overcome their opponents. They began their competition at U Mass. South Hadley and Holyoke size up as the toughest competition in the league. If words, precision, and logic stimulate you, and you thrive on argument, this club is for you.

Chess Club

Coach Burns looks for the big year from these future Fischers. With hopes of reaching the Western Mass. finals, he will rely heavily upon number one man, Mitch Curtis. Earlier in the year, Mitch took the first annual Civic Center class D chess open. Fred Cook, Jim Collins, and a couple of females with potential should give the team what it needs to move in and capture the championship.

Chess

Model

Model Congress

Mrs. Matloff advises the Model Congress whose goal is the mastery of the ways and means of the governmental process. Since this is its sole purpose, fund raising is not necessary. Learning Parliamentary procedure, writing and perfecting its own bills, and visiting other model congresses to exchange ideas encompass its activities. Eventually it hopes to provide a forum for the exchange of issues relevant to the problems facing America today. Meanwhile, Model Congress provides informed political citizens to increase the town voter list.

Math Club

Headman Dick Burns looks for a great year from the mathematical wizards. Eying a championship, the EL group must beat out perennial champ Classical. Their hopes ride high on the performance of Mike Thompson, who will be vying for the individual title of Pioneer Valley. With such worthy competitors as Mitch Curtis and Dart Nadeau on his side, the league championship should be no problem.

The prestigious group of illustrious voices called the select chorus is headed by Mr. Cheney. They make appearances at various clubs and churches. Of the group, thirteen members are in the District Chorus while six were asked to try out for the All-State Chorus. Twelve will be singing in the Young People's Concert in January. Included in their winter schedule are some twenty public appearances. Music ranging from early American to Modern is included in each of their varied programs.

Select Chorus

Band

Mr. Turner directs the all-star cast that composes the Spartan band. In the fall they delight the football crowds with dazzling halftime interpretations of such tunes as Shaft, The Spanish Flea, and the frequently requested Peanuts Polka. A select few make up the Pit Band, which is a well-known highlight of Spartanum. An even smaller group is chosen to try out for the District and All-State bands, the supreme goal of all band members. With this abundance of talent, how can they possibly be stopped in their strive for perfection?

The French club will partake in its usual activities this year.

Early in the year there was a French cooking demonstration. Quebec City and Montreal are their destinations for this year's trip. The festive French Club Mardi Gras is scheduled during the winter months.

Spanish Club

Advisor Miss Parrow will conduct the Spanish Club abroad this year. They are planning their trip to Spain in the spring.

This year's altruistic aim is to sponsor a Guatemalan child, her name is Ana Duque Concoba. The members hope to fund Ana Duque by having various bake sales. Lastly the club will tempt gourmet palates with the native dishes of old Spain at International night.

A group of inquisitive individuals get together to search for answers to the problems of science. A newly formed club, its main purpose is the discussion of various scientific topics. The members plan to stage a campaign during the energy crisis to make the students and teachers of ELHS aware of its existence. Boston Science Museum is their destination in the spring. If you're curious, join up and solve a few scientific problems.

Special Education

FTA

Giving high school students an insight into the rewarding profession of teaching is what Future Teachers of America is striving to attain. Monthly meetings are incorporated to allow the student teachers to speak of their various experiences and of techniques they have acquired. This year the girls are putting on a play, Alice in Wonderland. This whimsical fantasy will be performed at all the elementary schools. If you aspire to being a teacher, get into FTA.

Majorettes

Under the capable leadership of Miss Golash, the majorettes held the crowd spellbound with impressive stunts to highlight the halftime festivities at the EL football games. This, though, is not the limit of their activities. Various bake sales during the summer raised money for their elaborate lighted batons and new uniforms. Led by Co-Captains Terri Smith and Kathy Bartlett, they will hopefully continue to light up the EL sporting events.

This rowdy crew of misfits has worked all year long, following activities, chasing down names and attempting to put this volume together. The way to remember them is by their trademarks: Joey's crutches, Jackie's quick fingers, Jane's athletic aptitude, Lisa's limber limbs, Marty's continual open house, Kathy's Canadian dream, Helen's works of art, Lynn's artistic achievements, Mike's hall passes, Pam's many accomplishments, Jane's bearded buddy, Debbie's sloe sense of humor, Mary's Monty in the Hall, Maura's unusual experiences, Patti's garage bills, Linda's extraordinary taste, Kim's whimsical wizardry, Timmy's corner seats, Pete's first annual, Tom's blushing beauty, Jo-Ann's "blondie," Dave's quick shutter, Debbi's silent manner, Mike's computations, Anne's many moods, Kathy's fickle flirtations, Ed's basket of gawoomkies, John's "Longmeadow chicks," Rupert's "little" donations, Scott's sexy legs, Brian's literary style, Blaine's demonic mind, Mike's guinea pig, Joey's Three Little Bears, and last but not least, Maryellen's other (!) life.

This is the other side of the coin, the business staff. In the beginning of the year you probably saw them wandering from door to door trying to get some patrons. Then they changed roles, they began soliciting subscribers to help circulate this masterpiece. Towards the end of the year they donned black masks and brass knuckles in order to gather the money from a few delinquent debtors. So, many thanks to Betsy, Julie, Jean, Janet, Lori, Sue, Joy, John, Beth, Argira, Donna, Judy, Mary Alice, Linda, Colleen, Mike, Nancy, Don, Ted, Paul and Eric.

This is not primarily the place where we have to be it is the place where we are.
This is not our prison but our home.
It is the road we must walk and the walking of it is called life.
Because we will walk it only once, then how important it is that we should walk it with some purpose that we can call our own.
